

Katherine Martucci, DVM

Diagnostic Imaging, Telemedicine

Dr. Katherine Martucci received her Bachelor of Science degrees in Neuroscience and Psychology along with her Doctorate in Veterinary Medicine from Washington State University in 2017. Upon graduating, Dr. Martucci completed a small animal rotating internship followed by a year of practicing emergency medicine at Seattle Veterinary Specialists in Kirkland, WA. She then joined Gulf Coast Veterinary Specialists where she completed both Critical Care and Diagnostic Imaging specialty internships. She began her Diagnostic Imaging Residency at GCVS in July of 2021. Outside of work Dr. Martucci enjoys training service dogs, participating in competitive dog sports, rock climbing, exploring the outdoors with her two golden retrievers Kova and Fluke, and being serenaded by her cat Kindle (affectionately known as Scream Cheese).
