

Kimberly Alexander-Coleman, DVM, DACVIM (Oncology)

Oncology

Dr. Kimberly Alexander-Coleman graduated from the College of Veterinary Medicine from The University of Florida in 2014. She subsequently completed a rotating internship at North Carolina State University and an internal medicine & critical care specialty internship at Gulf Coast Veterinary Specialists. She then completed a medical oncology residency at the University of Georgia. Her foremost professional interests include a multi-modal approach to improving a patient's quality of life and aiding the patient's family through their loved one's diagnosis and treatment. Additional professional interests include clinical trials, chemotherapy safety and clinical pathology. In her spare time, Dr. Alexander enjoys traveling and two-step dancing with her husband and spending time with their Corgi, Data.