

Kristine McDaniel

Kristine McDaniel is the Hospital Director for GCVS - NASA Parkway due to open in the Spring of 2025, which will bring quality medicine and service to the Southeast side of Houston. She currently is serving as the interim Hospital Director at GCVS while GCVS - NASA Parkway is under construction.

Kristine joined the GCVS team in 2007 and was promoted through several positions until most recently, the Manager of Client Experience. Over the past few years, Kristine has also taken several stretch assignments at multiple hospitals in Texas ranging from customer service remediations to serving as the interim Hospital Director at Emergency Pet Care of Texas. She is well known by all for her cheerful and positive energy that is absolutely infectious.

In her time away from GCVS, Kristine enjoys crafting and spending quality time with her husband Matt, two children, Addison and Liam, and their assorted four-legged members.
