Oncology

Dr. Natalie Guevara is a hospitalist working exclusively in radiation oncology at GCVS. She supports and facilitates the care of your pet's cancer treatment through collaboration with our anesthesiology service and overseeing radiation oncologists. She serves as an extension of our remote radiation oncologist with hands-on clinical examinations, assessment, and management of potential radiation-induced side effects, and is a point of care resource for our pet parents. Dr. Guevara and her husband have two human babies as well as two fur babies, Bruce the Shih Tzu, and Grandma the cat. When she is not helping pets, she enjoys biking to local breweries, bouldering, participating in book club, and eating sweets.
